The Weekend of Twinning is an annual event during which tens of thousands of Muslims and Jews across North America, Europe and around the world come together in scores of locales to build ties of friendship and trust and celebrate commonalities in our two faith traditions.

There will be a question and answer period followed by a discussion about how the Jewish and Muslim communities can work together to help the poor and homeless people on Long Island during this time of great economic distress.

Attendees are encouraged to bring canned food, toiletries and used clothing which will be distributed to homeless people.
